

Title: ACSF Lecture and Topical Lunch with Greg Kopf of FHI360

Hosts: Alex Travis

Date: October 4, 2016, 11:30 – 1:00pm

Abstract:

The Atkinson Center for a Sustainable Future is pleased to invite you to a combination lecture and topical lunch with Greg Kopf of FHI360. The purpose is informational—a chance for us at Cornell to get to learn about FHI360, and a chance for them to learn about the breadth and depth of activities here. It is our hope that the visit might spawn a dialogue leading to collaborations, shared proposals, etc. To begin exploring opportunities, Greg will present a 30 minute broad overview of FHI360, and then in the topical lunch we can introduce ourselves and brainstorm about possible areas and mechanisms of collaboration.

The event will begin at 11:30 on October 4, and will be held in 300 Rice Hall. Please RSVP to Paula Euvrard <pge3@cornell.edu> if you will be able to attend.

Greg is the Director of Research and Development for their Contraceptive Technology Innovation unit. Greg will also be giving a seminar at the reproduction/endocrinology seminar series on Wednesday, October 5, at 4PM in 300 Morrison Hall that is more focused on reproduction and contraception.